

EIGHT BISHOPS TO BE ELECTED

Dr. Buckley Wins His Point in Methodist Conference.

DEBATE WAS SENSATIONAL

ELECTION WILL PROBABLY TAKE CONSIDERABLE TIME.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 17.—Action on the important matters was taken by the general conference of the Methodist church at today's session. The report of the committee on episcopacy recommending that the conference elect eight bishops to fill the vacancies caused by death, resignation and retirement during the present quadrennium was adopted. At the close of a heated and remarkable debate between Dr. James M. Buckley and Dr. Thomas H. Andrews, the two foremost parliamentarians of the Methodist church, the conference adopted the report of the special judiciary committee, which finds that the conference has no executive authority to district the episcopacy—that is, to appoint bishops to certain districts in the present form of the residency and administration of bishops.

Sensational Debate.
The feature of today's session was the sensational debate between Dr. Buckley and Dr. Neely upon a substitute offered by the latter for the judiciary committee's report on the constitutionality of districting of bishops.

Immediately after the reading of the judiciary committee's report upon the resolution referred to it several days ago concerning the matter of "assigning general superintendents to particular sections or districts for periods of four years with the possibility of continuing said general superintendents in said districts for a longer period," Dr. Neely offered the following substitute and moved its adoption:

Resolved, That, as to the assignment of general superintendents to certain sections and districts in the United States for a quadrennium there is nothing in the constitution of the church to prevent the exercise of power by the general conference, but it is merely a matter of expediency to be decided by the general conference. The debate upon this substitute. His argument was of such force and of the usual and pointed character that it evoked a storm of applause from the floor which Bishop Moore, the presiding officer, rebuked sharply under the conference rule which forbids demonstrations of approval or dissent. Dr. Neely finished in the midst of a tremendous ovation.

Cautious Reply.

Dr. Buckley, taking the platform to reply, made this cautious remark: "Long experience has taught me that the more vociferous the applause, the less the thinking."

"I shall show you," he continued, "that there is an underlying sophism in everything that has been said by the preceding speaker. I will prove it to you out of his own mouth."

Dr. Buckley then went on to the proceedings of the general conference of 1900, when the new constitution was under consideration, to show that Dr. Neely had offered a substitute for article 10, section 2, which says that the general conference shall not do away with the episcopacy, as follows:

"The general conference shall not destroy episcopacy, neither shall it destroy the itinerant general superintendency."
"This was referred to a committee of fifteen," said Dr. Buckley, "and Dr. Neely himself was a member of that committee and was heard at great length at very great length—add every member of the committee disagreed with him except Thomas H. Neely. The report was made to the conference and Dr. Neely moved a substitute he had had voted in committee, and the conference rejected it by a tremendous vote. He began in 1884 to try to bring this thing to pass. He could not do it anywhere. He tried to change the rule and he could not change it, and that is the sophism that underlies his speech."

Pro and Con.

He proceeded to review the action of previous conferences and stated that Dr. Neely had "totally misrepresented the views of William L. Harris." Other speakers in favor of the substitute were Senator McCallan of New York, Dr. Bell of Ohio, Dr. Schell of Indiana, Dr. Dickie of Michigan and Dr. Elliott of Detroit. Opposed to the substitute were Dr. A. B. Leonard of New York, Judge H. L. Sibley of Ohio, Dr. Cook of Tennessee, Dr. Smith, chairman of the judiciary committee, and Judge Lincoln of New York. Judge Lincoln's argument dealt solely with the constitutional phases of the question and was an incisive exposition of the whole matter.

The substitute was then put upon its passage and was rejected by a decisive vote. The report of the judiciary committee was then adopted and the convention took up the report of the episcopacy committee. This report commends the election by the conference of eight bishops to fill the places of Bishops Hurst and Nind, deceased; Bishop Merrill, resigned; and Bishop Andrews, Malheur, "in absentia." Pose and Walden, superannuated by a majority vote of the conference last Saturday.

Dr. Schell of Indiana moved to amend the report substituting six for eight. The motion was immediately tabled. Dr. Buckley, as chairman of the episcopacy committee, stated that a considerable minority of that committee had favored a recommendation of six; that the opinion of the remaining bishops on this point had been obtained, and that after due consideration a majority of the committee stood in favor of eight. The report was then adopted without further discussion.

Some individual is working his way from California to Salt Lake City and is passing out on route $1 silver certificates which have been raised to $10. The public should be warned to be particularly careful in handling $10 greenbacks, for although the raising of the face value is a passing fancy, it is not detected at a passing glance. The work of raising the denomination is done by means of pasters, marked $10, which are pasted over the original legend "one dollar." Within the past two weeks the man who is circulating the bills has disposed of many in the vicinity of San Francisco and Sacramento. His path east is marked by scores of swindlers.

MORE PERMITS ISSUED

Sixty-one Residents Decide to Connect With Sewers.

Sixty-one sewer connections have been made during the past two weeks as the result of the vigorous campaign waged against delinquent property-owners by Health Inspector W. R. Smith, city engineer, and Assistant City Attorney William W. Hoffman. The city engineer has been very successful in securing a permit for the city to lay out a sewer line on the street between 24th and 25th streets, and the city attorney has been very successful in securing a permit for the city to lay out a sewer line on the street between 24th and 25th streets.

The case of the city against S. B. and W. T. Tuttle was continued yesterday afternoon in the police court at the request of the assistant city attorney.

CANCELS RESERVATION.

Chief Executive Issues Proclamations of State Importance.

After being closed to public entry nearly two years a number of sections in townships 21 and 28, inclusive, in Sevier county, have been reopened to public entry. News of the cancellation came in a document received yesterday by Register Hobbs of the land office. Temporary withdrawal of the land territory embraced in any legal entry or covered by any lawful filing duly of record in the proper United States land office, or upon which any valid settlement has been made pursuant to law.

The documents are of special interest to those who are looking for homesteads in the Bee Hive state.

TOURISTS SEEK "BIG GUNS"

Toil Far in Vain As Result of a Joke.

Tourists expecting to see the "big guns" at Fort Douglas yesterday were the victims of a joke that cost them a climb of a little over a mile up the mountain side. Eight persons told by the long road to the quarry, expecting to see guns pre-arranged with large pieces of artillery.

"Where are the big guns?" asked a member of a group of tourists addressing a soldier near headquarters.

"Right up there," he said, pointing to the stone quarry east of the fort. At that moment a blast was fired.

"They are firing now," said the tourist.

"Yes," said the soldier. "If you hurry you can see them practice." The tourists hurriedly followed up the mountain to find five men working in a stone quarry.

WANT MONEY TO BUILD.

Many Persons Raise Money by Mortgages.

A greater demand than usual has been made for mortgage loans at the various investment banks, during the past few weeks. At all the investment concerns business is reported to have nearly doubled. This is said to be due to the large number of improvements that are being made throughout the city. The new houses are said to have been the cause of most of the investment.

Within the past sixty days more loans have been made than have been placed in any period of four months before. The sign is good, it is said, and is the forerunner of a boom in building.

HACKMEN RESTRAINED

Short Line Gets Temporary Injunction Regulating the Position of Rigs.

In the chancery court yesterday Judge William C. Hall issued a temporary restraining order against the members of the Salt Lake City Hack Drivers' union, No. 64, and the East Side Carriage & Transfer company, restraining them from stationing their hacks and carriages in front of the Short Line depot. The action was begun some days ago by the Short Line railway company.

This is the second attempt made by the Short Line company to restrain the hackmen, objectionable to it from stationing their vehicles in front of the depot or from crossing the line and permitting their vehicles to occupy the space to the north of the depot. Some weeks ago a number of the hackmen were arrested for trespassing, by crossing the line. The case was dismissed in the district court, the trial judge holding that the company could not restrict certain hackmen from driving across the line and permitting others to enjoy the full privilege of soliciting fares by standing their hacks alongside the platform to the east of the depot.

In its second action the company proposes to keep the defendants off of Third West street, between South Temple and West Temple streets, and permitting their vehicles to occupy the space to the north of the depot. The company has been retained by the local hack drivers' union to fight its case. The national organization has become interested in the matter, and it is said will furnish the money to fight the case to the state supreme court if necessary.

A Positive Necessity.

Having to lay upon my bed for 14 days from a severely bruised leg, I only found relief when I used a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment.
